I became a qualified photographer with The Master Photographers Association in 1982, and since then, with my wife Ann, we have been developing and evolving our own individual style of wedding photography. Relaxed, contemporary, friendly and informal. Constantly creative, our mission is to capture the joy, the romance and the fun of your special day with a minimum of fuss and maximum care and attention.

Listed are the different services available, but we are always happy to discuss any special requirements you may have. If you would like to discuss your wedding with us, please telephone us, or visit our web site for more information and examples of our work.
